11TH SEPT

9/11 ANNIVERSARY

Teaching about the events and aftermath of 9/11 can be challenging for a number of reasons. Research by Since 9/11 has shown that both teachers and students have varying degrees of knowledge about 9/11. Many of the issues are complex and some are controversial, all of which adds to the potential demands made on teachers. These resources are designed to help you discuss these topics with your students.

Let's Discuss: Fundamental British Values

Educate Against Hate's Let's Discuss: Fundamental British Values resource is designed to help teachers facilitate classroom conversations in secondary schools around FBVs.

Since 9/11: Secondary Resources

Resources that can be used as part of KS3 history, Citizenship, RE, Art and Design, and English lessons to develop critical thinking skills, and promote dialogue by exploring different cultural and political perspectives.

20 Years Since 9/11: Why Education is More Relevant Than Ever

Blog post written by Peter Rosengard, the Chairman of SINCE 9/11, discussing the importance of education and teaching young people about events like 9/11 in order to create a safe and harmonious society.

15TH SEPT

INTERNATIONAL DAY OF DEMOCRACY

The International Day of Democracy is celebrated around the world on 15 September each year. It was established through a resolution passed by the UN General Assembly in 2007, encouraging governments to strengthen and consolidate democracy.

Each year highlights a specific theme. Past themes have included stronger democracies, the importance of democracy for the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, strengthening the voices of citizens, dialogue and inclusiveness, accountability, and political tolerance.

Take the Democracy Challenge with your students!

Developed by UK Youth and in partnership with the Cabinet Office, The Democracy Challenge is a 15-hour group learning programme that you can complete with young people aged 16 and over. It is aimed at developing their understanding of democracy and voting, and increasing their interest through creative, imaginative and meaningful activities.

The Democracy Challenge encourages young people to think for themselves, to question and challenge themselves and each other, and to develop confidence in expressing their own opinions.

October 2023

WHOLE MONTH

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

October is Black History Month - a time dedicated to celebrating and recognising the contributions of Black people to British society, as well as an opportunity to learn and broaden understanding of Black culture.

The theme of Black History Month 2023 is 'Saluting Our Sisters' to emphasise focus and direct attention towards the contributions and efforts of Black women who are overlooked and forgotten in their achievements.

Black History Month is a great opportunity to teach young people about the efforts of Black people and communities, civil rights movements and equality as well as a chance to further their understanding of our fundamental British values of democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs.

Let's Discuss: Fundamental British Values

Educate Against Hate's Let's Discuss: Fundamental British Values resource is designed to help teachers facilitate classroom conversations in secondary schools around FBVs.

14TH - 21ST OCT

HATE CRIME AWARENESS WEEK

National Hate Crime Awareness Week aims to promote action against hate crime and encourages the likes of Government, Police, Councils, voluntary sectors, businesses, and communities to work together to tackle hate crime in the UK.

Hate crime refers to incidents or criminal offences whereby the victim believes it to be motivated by prejudice against their race, religion, sexual orientation, disability, or an incident or criminal offence motivated by prejudice against a person who is transgender. Hate crimes can be in the form of physical or verbal abuse, or in the form of the incitement of hatred whereby someone has the intent of encouraging hate.

Throughout Hate Crime Awareness Week, you might want to use the opportunity to teach your pupils about our fundamental British values, in particular, mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs.

Going Too Far? - What Would You Do If...?

A scenario based quiz style classroom resource that will allow you to discuss different approaches to difficult situations such as encountering racism, hate crime, and harmful content online.

Stand Up! - Discrimination Today and Yesterday

Stand Up! Discrimination Today and Yesterday is a classroom resource which aims to explore issues around discrimination and tolerance.

No Love for Hate

The No Love for Hate project aims to reduce the appeal of extremism to young people. It encourages pupils to be more accepting of others and to challenge hatred.

HOLOCAUST MEMORIAL DAY

27 January marks the anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau, the largest Nazi death camp.

The Holocaust threatened the fabric of civilisation, and genocide must still be resisted every day. Our world often feels fragile and vulnerable and we cannot be complacent. Even in the UK, prejudice and the language of hatred must be challenged by us all.

Holocaust Memorial Day is for everyone. Each year across the UK, thousands of people come together to learn more about the past and take action to create a safer future. We know they learn more, empathise more and do more.

Holocaust Memorial Day Trust Resources

Holocaust Memorial Day Trust have resources including assembly packs and lesson plans to help pupils learn about the Holocaust and genocide.

SAFER INTERNET DAY

Add these dates to your calendar

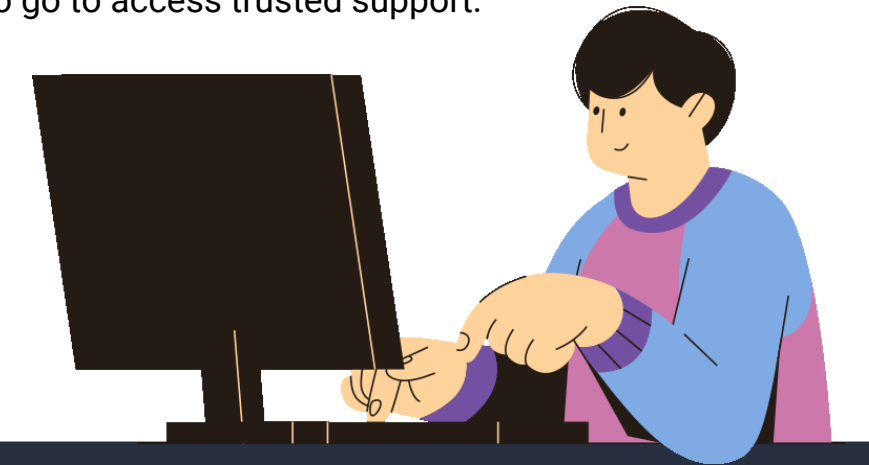

Safer Internet Day aims to encourage young people to act safely, responsibly, and positively in the online space and when using technology. Safer Internet Day is an opportunity to teach young people about ways in which they can stay safe online and provide them with the chance to have conversations about their online activity and any concerns they might have about the online world.

Learners are at risk of accessing inappropriate and harmful extremist content online, and the internet and social media have made spreading divisive and hateful narratives easier.

The development of strong media literacy skills helps learners to become critical users of the online space, through recognising extremist behaviour; understanding the persuasive techniques used by extremist groups and individuals online; acknowledging where online activity is criminal, and knowing where to go to access trusted support.

Developed by the Department for Education and London Grid for Learning, Going Too Far? is an interactive classroom resource which aims to help students understand how certain behaviour online may be dangerous or illegal.

Teaching Online Safety in Schools - GOV.UK

Guidance published by the Department for Education about how you can teach your learners about how they can stay safe online and the importance of online safety.

Online Media Literacy Resources - GOV.UK

A collection of events and resources from the Department for Culture, Media and Sport that can help young people keep safe online and build their online media literacy skills.

Digital Matters: Managing Online Information

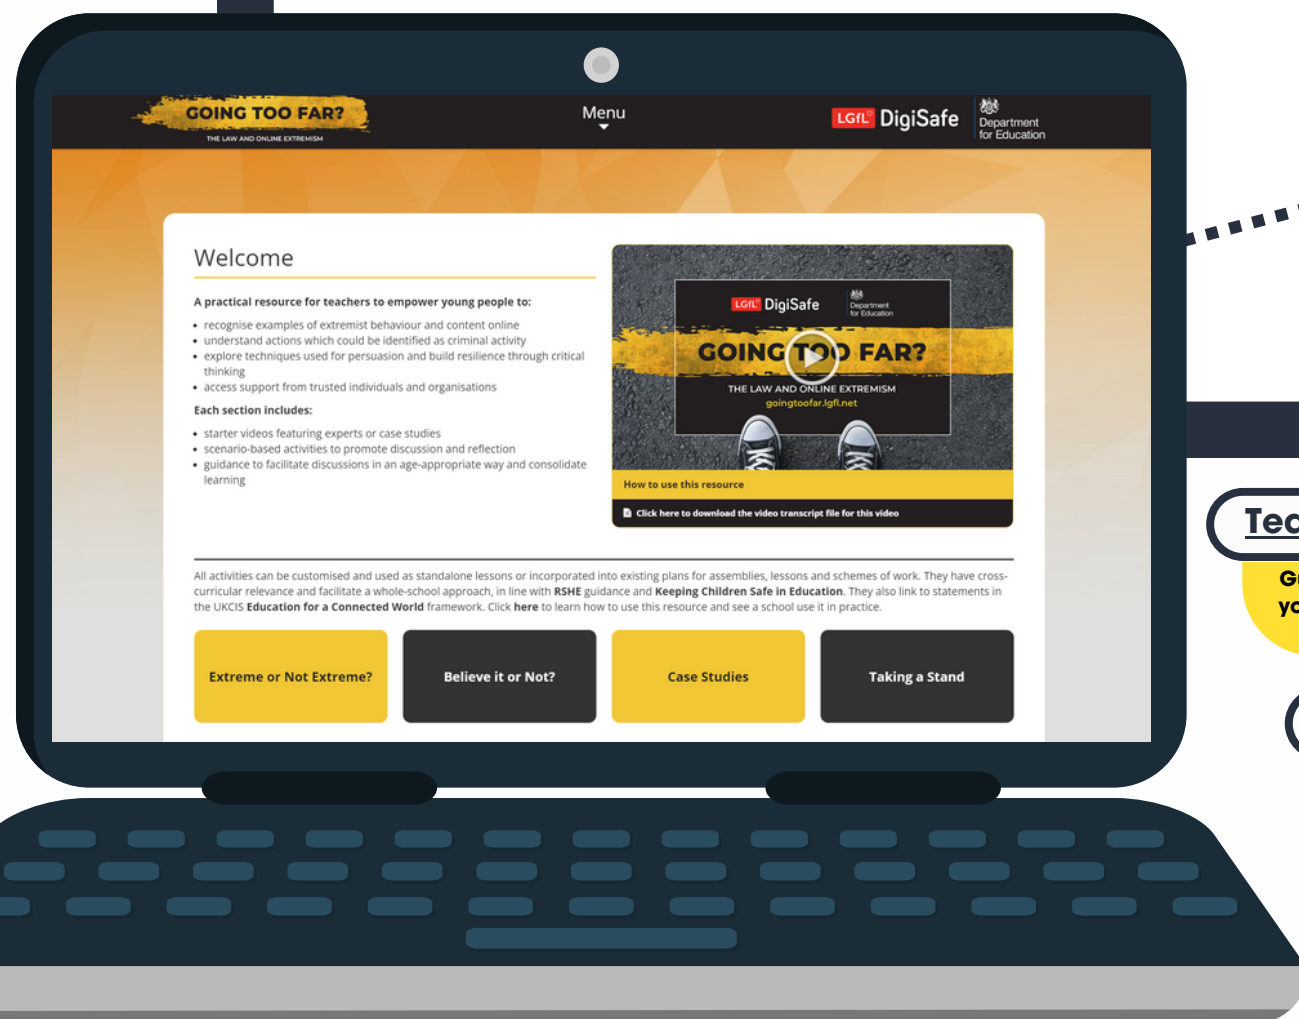

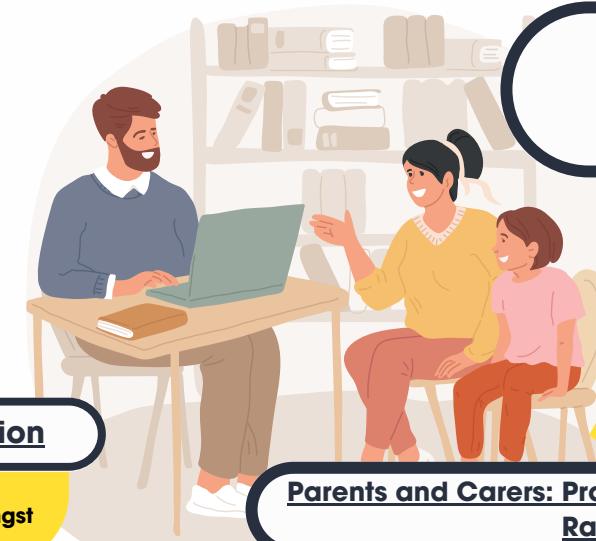

Quiz-style and story-based learning that aims to promote discussion in the classroom around safer internet usage amongst year 5 and year 6 learners.

PARENTS EVENING COMING UP?

Just like those working in the education sector, parents and carers play an important role in protecting children and young people radicalisation and extremism.

We've created a short booklet and supplementary PowerPoint presentation designed to help parents and carers understand more about Prevent, protecting children from radicalisation and the role that they can play.

MANCHESTER ARENA ATTACK ANNIVERSARY

On 22nd May 2017, Islamist extremist Salman Abedi carried out an attack at the Manchester Arena, following an Ariana Grande concert. As a result of the bombing, 22 people lost their lives, over 100 were injured, and there was extensive damage to the building itself. 2024 marks 7 years since the attack.

Starting conversations with your learners about Islamist extremism and incidents like the Manchester Arena Attack can be difficult and require a sensitive approach. To assist with this, we've created our Let's Discuss: Islamist Extremism resource which aims to provide support to teachers in starting dialogue in the classroom around Islamist extremism and the process of radicalisation.

Additionally, Chris Upton, the headteacher of the youngest victim of the Manchester Arena Attack, kindly wrote a blog for the Educate Against Hate website about the impact of the attack on his school and the journey they went on following the incident and the loss of a pupil.

Let's Discuss: Islamist Extremism

The Let's Discuss series is designed to help teachers facilitate difficult classroom conversations in secondary schools.

This resource focuses on Islamist extremism and the pack contains teacher guidance, a short video, PowerPoint slides and a fictional case-study.

PRIDE MONTH

LGBT Pride Month is a month, typically June, dedicated to celebration and commemoration of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) pride. Pride Month began after the Stonewall riots, a series of gay liberation protests in 1969. At the point at which schools consider it appropriate to teach their pupils about LGBT, they should ensure that this content is fully integrated into their programmes of study for this area of the curriculum rather than delivered as a standalone unit or lesson. Schools are free to determine how they do this, and the Department for Education expect all pupils to have been taught LGBT content at a timely point as part of their RHSE of the curriculum.
